

Rudolf Steiner

Economist of Tomorrow

Known mainly in this country for his work in education, Rudolf Steiner also made an important contribution to modern economics. In these seminars some of Steiner's key thoughts will be explored against the background of today's events.

6.30 PM Thursdays
London School of Economics

2008 Seminar Series

April 17th

Capitalising Initiative

The antidote to inflation?

May 22nd

Finance and Farming

Sectors within or boundaries of economic life?

June 19th

Pluralist and Practical

How should economics be taught?

Each session will begin with a focusing contribution as the basis for a free ranging discussion by the participants.

Attendance charge: £5 (Students free)

Convenors: Dr. Christopher Houghton Budd, Arthur Edwards

Sponsored by the Centre for Associative Economics (cfae.biz)

LSE, Room S306, 3rd Floor, St. Clement's, Houghton Street, London WC2A 2AE
<http://www.lse.ac.uk/resources/mapsAndDirections/findingYourWayAroundLSE.htm>